

A story crossing generations: OMV VISMARA's insatiate passion for glass

Renowned for its commitment to excellence, product quality and passion, OMV VISMARA already made its mark in the glass industry four decades ago. Since then the family-run company has flourished under its founder's leadership as his sons, Samuele and Giacomo, continue to drive innovation and exceptional customer service - still earning widespread client acclaim.

OMV Vismara has been a cornerstone of the glass industry since its establishment in 1981. From the very beginning the company has been distinguished by the expert craftsmanship of its products - a core value that quickly garnered recognition and appreciation far afield. Over the span of more than 40 years, the founder, along with the second generation represented by his sons Samuele and Giacomo under his enduring guidance, have nurtured this passion for glass processing - driving exponential growth for the company. The hallmarks of OMV Vismara, namely reliable quality, continuous research and outstanding customer service, are all consistently reflected in the positive feedback from clients.

HALLMARKS OF QUALITY AND INNOVATION

Each machine crafted by OMV Vismara embodies the meticulous care of Italian craftsmanship - designed for longevity. Its specialized team is perpetually prepared to provide technical support and assistance to customers whenever needed. The company places a high value on receiving continuous feedback and suggestions, fostering the creation of increasingly innovative machinery that aligns ever more closely with customer needs. "We are a family-run company and strongly believe in the importance of human relationships. Each of our customers is treated as ‘customer number one.’ We do not categorize them as numbers, but as commercial partners who share our decades of history and our work. Our sole objective is to accompany our customers on a path of long-lasting and stable growth, making our experience, passion and competence available to them,” says the company founder.

CRAFTSMANSHIP IN EVERY MACHINE

OMV Vismara designs and manufactures a range of machines that vary in size but are unified by their innovative features and functions. From large systems that incorporate the latest technology to achieve superior production and quality outcomes to more compact machinery tailored for medium-small glass factories, each piece of equipment integrates advanced features. Despite their modest dimensions, the machines offer high quality and cost-effectiveness - even in small series production. Quality is at the heart of every aspect of OMV Vismara, from design to customer service - a commitment that’s evident in both design and product range, resulting in easy-to-use machines that are tailored to meet individual customer needs. In addition to the full machine range that’s viewable on the OMV Vismara website, the company produces special machines and plants according to customer specifications.
