

KERAGLASS celebrates 2022 under the banner of sales

As evidenced by KERAGLASS' twelve new next-generation glass tempering plants for the Italian and Portuguese markets, together with its figures between the end of 2021 and the start of 2022, the company still marches along its forward path - notwithstanding the economic recession connected with the worldwide pandemic.

All this only confirms Keraglass' esteemed level of quality, which is further reinforced and consolidated by its constant interaction with clients. From the ever-vibrant Portuguese market with the sale of two tempering plants at Vidrocelos (Porto) and Vidrotempra (Lisbon), both cutting edge within the glass industry, to Italy, with ten tempering furnaces each designed for the next generation of glass and kitted out with Keraglass' celebrated trio of hallmarks, namely durability, reliability and quality. The plants will be shipped and installed in the first half of 2022 – all thanks to Keraglass' prized capabilities in organisation and production, which have been following an upward path for many years.

The Italian clients who opted to invest in top quality "made in Italy" equipment are: Bor-

gna Vetri (Cuneo), Asola Vetro (Mantua), Laboc (Perugia), Po.lo Glass (Brescia), La Doccia (Padua), Inda (Bergamo), Temperart Glass (Bergamo), Serex Multivitrurum (Udine), Artigianvetro (Andria), Cristalsud (Bari), and La Tecnica del Vetro (Salerno).

MAKING A SPLASH WITH DELUXE

Over the first quarter of 2022 this latter company, an Italian leader within the latest generation of glass processing in the Campania region, is to receive a complete "Deluxe" lamination line designed and built by Keraglass – all to meet the needs of a sector that continues to evolve just as it remains constantly oriented towards quality. Gaining the trust of a company with the coveted standing of "La Tecnica nel Vetro", which has transformed its artisanal glass processing skills into a modern and successful business model only confirms Keraglass' celebrated ability to respond to the needs of its clients as it customizes the products it sells.

Here "Deluxe" epitomises Keraglass' philosophy, which espouses the constant search for performance based upon the experience and know-how of a company that's already supported the growth and development of its clients for almost thirty years - thus trailblazing its path into the future under the dual aegis of quality and innovation.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY KERAGLASS!

All this only adds to Keraglass' lasting success in the wake of its silver jubilee last year, when the company celebrated its 25 years within the industry (1996-2021).

An important milestone, it also marked the starting point of a path towards new challenges – accepted today, as always, with the same 'all-round' approach to the industry that's been emblematic of Keraglass ever since that historic hunch by founder Stefano Spezzani which was to kickstart the creation in 1996 of a company that combines experience and know-how with a spark to constantly develop new top-quality products while building upon research, technical expertise and innovation. Over the past quarter century Keraglass has proven its ability to change without ever abandoning its core values. Having its roots in Sassuolo (Modena), the heart of Emilia's Ceramics Valley, the company relocated in 2004 to its current site in Baiso (Reggio Emilia). Through the years, Keraglass has advanced to its current position of leading world manufacturer of glass processing plants and equipment – thus designing and producing a range of technologically-refined tempering, laminating and decorating solutions. Over 25 years the frontiers have been broken down by the boundless energy of a company operating via its own worldwide sales network that has branch offices in both Brazil and the US. Now a multinational within the glass industry, Keraglass has become a trailblazing brand and a benchmark for the entire sector. Another turning point for an organisation was the business and technological partnership agreement clinched with the Voilap group in 2014, which opened it to new production and industrial scenarios. Today reliability, integrity, professionalism and expertise are all the company's guiding values, along with the desire and courage to keep its eyes upon the horizon as it compresses timescales and anticipates the emerging needs of a fast-paced industrial sector. Happy anniversary to Keraglass - for a 25-year track record of never turning back.
